Tag: International Cricket Council There was a time when South Africa were outsiders and on the fringes of world cricket. They made two official appearances in the sport's showpiece events – the World Cup and the World Twenty20 in 2011. Since then, they have progressed enough to top the ICC Test rankings. They are definitely one of the contenders for the upcoming ICC Champions Trophy that is set to take place in England from 3rd June to 22nd June. South Africa have outclassed other traditionally stronger nations in the past. They won the inaugural Cricket World Cup in 1999 and retained the title the following year when they achieved their first ever Test series win in England. The South African squad for the tournament is: South Africa squad for the Champions Trophy 2017 Rooibok Faf du Plessis Hashim Amla Quinton de Kock Theunis de Bruyn Aiden Markram Farhaan Behardien Ajinkya Rahane Dean Elgar Kyle Abbott Other than Kane Williamson's men, Sri Lanka will also be a favourite to reach the quarter finals. The other side in Group A will be New Zealand. India will be in Group B, and they have some tough competition in Group B. They will have to face Afghanistan, the West Indies and Pakistan. Qamar Ahmed of Pakistan, who has helped the team to the top spot in the Test rankings, will be a major threat to the Indian squad. India will definitely be up against it to reach the quarterfinals in the Champions Trophy. England and Australia will then be paired off, which has been the backbone of cricket and a great showdown of skills in recent times. India are tipped to
